Explanation to the end user!

Finally, it is advisable to give the (elderly) user a good explanation of the Clockaid clock: Clockaid really just a clock which always shows you the correct time, day and date. But it also is a great help to remind them of things: to take medication, appointments, etc. The selection of the type of alarm sound and visual alarm signal can be done together with the end-user. Don't forget to check if al functions correctly or maybe some settings need adjustment after a couple of days and at regular intervals afterward and make sure the signals are interpreted as they should by the end-user.
